GUNNY'S RULES © Xen

Three lifetime lessons from a BMT Gunny Sgt.:

1) Never screw-over anyone; especially someone with nothing to lose.

2) Do it right in drill and you will do it right in combat; this training will save your young asses.

3) Each one of you is a target. Watch each other's backs because nobody else does except as a target. Take care of each other because that is all you got!

He constantly drilled that into us 24/7: at chow, showering, drill, at lights on and out and by surprise; he would suddenly bark, 'rules!!' At final departure as each of us was leaving for next duty assignment, while shaking our hands goodbye he barked, "rules!' Not one of us missed a beat repeating them. His common sense remains on the beam, in Toto. Gunny is one of the most memorable influences that positively marked me for life.
